ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Our institution, Naymote Partners for Democratic Development is grateful to all county, national and other stakeholders whose contributions and support remain crucial to advancing public accountability, accountable democratic governance, civic engagements and democracy in Liberia.

We recognize the specific contributions of all stakeholders in upholding the basic principles and values of democracy and the social contract between the electorates and their elected officials. We want to recognize those who provided us the necessary support to successfully complete this first edition of the President Meter Project covering the period January to August 2024 of the President's Performance in Office.

This report was developed through the Democracy Advancement Program, (DAP) funded by the Swedish International Development Corporation Agency (SIDA) through the Embassy of Sweden in Liberia. SIDA thank you for the partnership and support to our institution and for believing in our vision and supporting our work.

Special thanks to our amazing team at Naymote for the support, teamwork, collaboration, commitment, and passion, and all those who supported us greatly and were always willing to make contributions and suggestions to get this done.

To our other partners, sponsors, and volunteers who have supported us in diverse ways, we are and will be forever grateful for your immense contributions.

Disclaimer: The views and perspectives expressed in this report do not in any way represent the views of Swedish International Development Corporation Agency, (SIDA) or the Embassy of Sweden in Monrovia. ## 1.0 EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Joseph Nyumah Boakai, Sr. was inaugurated as the 26th President of Liberia on January 22, 2024, for a six-year term. The first round of the presidential election, held on October 10, 2023, saw an impressive voter turnout of 78.86%. However, no candidate secured the constitutional requirement of more than 50% of the vote, necessitating a runoff. On November 14, 2023, voters returned to the polls with a turnout of 66.12%. Boakai narrowly won the second-round election, garnering 50.64% of the vote, defeating incumbent George M. Weah, who received 49.36%.

This report provides an assessment of President Boakai's performance against the promises he made during his campaign and since taking office. Running under the banner of "Think Liberia, Love Liberia, Build Liberia," Boakai's campaign focused on economic reforms, human capacity development, infrastructure improvement, the fight against illicit drugs and corruption, and enhancing public service delivery.

These commitments were outlined in various platforms, including the Unity Party's 2023 manifesto—dubbed the ARREST Agenda—his campaign speeches, his inaugural address, and policy statements. Of the 119 promises identified, 83 originated from the Unity Party's ARREST (Agriculture, Roads, Rule of Law, Education, Sanitation, and Tourism) manifesto, 8 were made during campaign rallies, 2 from his victory speech, 3 from the inaugural address, 15 in the State of the Nation Address, and 8 were drawn from other policy statements.

The promises fall under six key pillars of the ARREST Agenda:

1. Macroeconomic Stability & Infrastructure Development (67 promises)
2. Health, WASH (Water, Sanitation, and Hygiene), Environment, and Climate Change (12 promises)
3. Human Capacity Development (11 promises)
4. Governance and Rule of Law (16 promises)
5. Gender, Youth, Children, and Social Protection (9 promises)
6. Fight Against Corruption (4 promises)

From January to August 2024, Naymote, a governance tracking organization, monitored and categorized President Boakai's 119 promises. According to their analysis, 3 promises have been fully completed, 70 are in progress, 17 have not yet started, and 29 remain unrated.

Born on November 30, 1944, Joseph Nyumah Boakai is a seasoned Liberian politician who previously served as the Vice President from 2006 to 2018 under President Ellen Johnson

Sirleaf. He also held the position of Minister of Agriculture from 1983 to 1985. Boakai first ran for the presidency in 2017 but lost to George Weah. In 2023, he mounted a successful comeback, defeating Weah in the runoff election.

2.0 INTRODUCTION

The President Meter [BoakaiMeter] Project, a democratic monitoring tool, responsible to track and report on promises made by President Joseph Nyumah Boakai and the Unity Party-led government during and after the 2023 elections. The program seeks to establish a channel for public accountability between political leaders and the citizens. This is done by generating and disseminating timely and credible information on the President's performance against promises made during and after the election and to enhance government programs/policies in relations to citizens' demands and expectations.

Liberia made history for a second peaceful democratic transition in the third republic (2017 and 2023). President Boakai and the Unity Party (UP) won on the slogan: "Rescue Liberia" promising equal opportunity and inclusive development for all Liberians. The Unity Party's 2023 manifesto outlines the ARREST agenda for inclusive government.

"When I set out on this journey many years ago, my focus was and has always been on one agenda: COUNTRY FIRST, LIBERIA FIRST! I am on record to have said to the Liberian people that Liberia is not a poor country, but the perennial problem of this country is mainly triggered by greed, the lack of sound and honest leadership, little of which we have experienced in the last several decades of our nearly 200 years of statehood. I am also on record saying that I have a mission, and that mission is to ensure that the lost image of Liberia is restored." President Joseph Nyumah Boakia, Sr.

This activity is based on the following theories of change embedded into three thoughts: (i) When citizens have access to reliable and timely information on status of promises, they can make informed decisions at the ballot box; (ii) When citizens are more informed about government's actions, it leads to political accountability; and (iii) When citizens have access on the status of government's promises, it makes misinformation less attractive to the government.

3.0 METHODOLOGY

This activity adopted several distinct yet interrelated monitoring and quantitative data collection tools to track and document the promises. They included:

Extraction: all the promises contained in this report were extracted from the Unity Party AAREST Agenda of 2023, campaign speeches, rallies and post-election promises. We extracted these promises from official documents to avoid a state of subjective prejudice in the selection of promises—and we also ensure that all information were already in the public for swift referencing.

Media Monitoring: Interventions were rigorously tracked through comprehensive media monitoring, which involved systematically gathering information from diverse media platforms to assess the government's performance accurately.

Field Visits: The institution team conducted on-site visits to locations where physical development projects were underway, particularly focusing on road construction sites and other infrastructural development work. These visits aimed to verify the status of projects and gather tangible evidence for reporting purposes, enhancing the reliability of the assessment.

Online Surveillance: Monitoring activities extended to various online platforms, including the Executive Mansion website, the Executive Mansion Facebook Page, and the Facebook pages of relevant ministries, agencies, and commissions. This comprehensive approach ensured the capture of real-time information on government activities for thorough analysis.

Official Correspondence: Official written communications were dispatched to government institutions, soliciting information regarding the status of promises being implemented. This method facilitated direct engagement with project supervisors, enabling verification of claims made in media reports and ensuring accuracy in reporting.

Database: a database was established where all information generated from the various tracking tools was stored and collated. To ensure accuracy and reliability, information collated was triangulated using primary data sources gathered by Naymote, reports from other civil society organizations (CSOs), independent media reports, and interviews. Through this triangulation method, data was analyzed, findings were generated, and conclusions made whether a promise could be classified as completed, ongoing, not started or not rated.

Limitation: some promises were not descriptive, concrete, and measurable and this made it difficult to assess and verify the status of implementation.

In addition, we adopted a four-pronged promise tracking system to categorize and assess the progress and status of government commitments, including:

The rating: Promises tracked are rated under the following categories in this report:

No	Status	Description
1.	Completed (C)	Signifying that the stated deliverables have been successfully achieved or implemented in accordance with established criteria or standards.
2.	Ongoing (O)	Denoting that deliverables are currently being actively pursued or implemented but have not yet been fully completed.
3.	Not Started (NS)	Indicating that no action has been taken on such promise or promises
4.	Not rated (NR)	Indicating a lack of sufficient information or data available to accurately assess the progress or status of the promise.

Three key and guiding principles were adhered to aid the implementation of this project. They include:

1. Non-partisan: The outcome of the tracking is free of political biases.
2. Objectivity: The findings of the tracking are not based on any person's opinion or driven by their emotions but are objectively verified.
3. Evidence-based: The findings are informed by evidence triangulated from at least three sources demonstrating due diligence.

4.0 KEY FINDINGS

This section presents an in-depth analysis of the key findings of the President Meter Report’s assessment. The comprehensive listing of promises with their ratings presented in the Appendix. Figure 1 and Table 1 presents summary of these promises—‘completed’, ‘ongoing’, ‘not started’ and ‘not rated’ promises.

Total Promises Tracked

From January through August 2024, Naymote kept track of and categorized 119 commitments under the leadership of President Joseph N. Boakai, Sr. Three, (3) promises out of the 119 commitments were completed, 70 promises are ongoing, 17 promises have not started and 29 promises not rated because no government action has been taken or no available information to update these statuses.

Pillar 1 – Macroeconomic Stability & Infrastructure Development

The Macroeconomic Stability & Infrastructure Development pillar holds a major number of the promises made by the Boakai-led government with key focus on the economy, financial management, agriculture, and infrastructure, among others. It contains 67 of the 119 promises tracked and monitored. With this, we have tracked 1 promise as completed, 42 ongoing, 6 have not started, and 18 are not rated.

Pillar 1 - Macroeconomic Stability & Infrastructure Development

Pillar 2 – Health, WASH, the Environment, and Climate Change

This pillar seeks to address issues surrounding healthcare, water, sanitation, and hygiene (WASH), the environment, and climate change. The President’s commitment for this pillar is poised at 12 promises, among which 1 promise is completed, 9 are ongoing, 1 has not started, and 1 is not rated during the reporting period.

Pillar 2 - Health, WASH, The Environment, and Climate

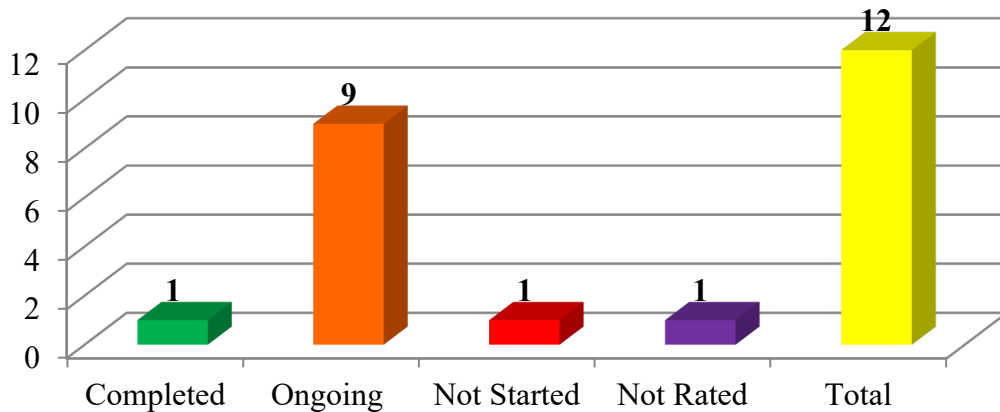

Figure 3. Rating of Promises under pillar 2-Health, WASH, the Environment and Climate Change

Pillar 3 – Human Capacity Development

The third pillar is termed ‘Human Capacity Development’, with a primary focus on education for primary, secondary, and tertiary levels. Under this pillar, the institution tracked and monitored 11 promises—none has been completed, 3 are ongoing, 4 have not started, and 4 not rated.

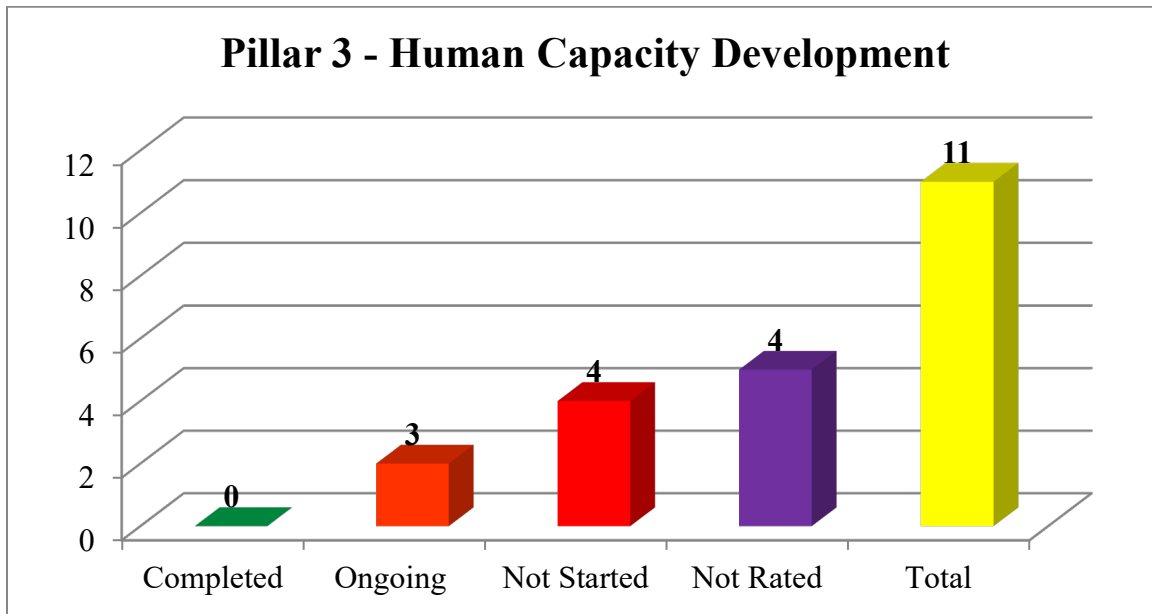

Figure 4. Rating of Promises under pillar 3-Human Capacity Development

Pillar 4 – Governance & Rule of Law

Under the Governance & Rule of Law pillar, a total of 16 promises were tracked as part of the government’s commitment to revive the governance and justice systems in Liberia. This pillar focuses on foreign relations, security, rule of law, etc. Of these 16 promises, none has been completed, 8 are ongoing, 4 have not started, and 4 are not rated.

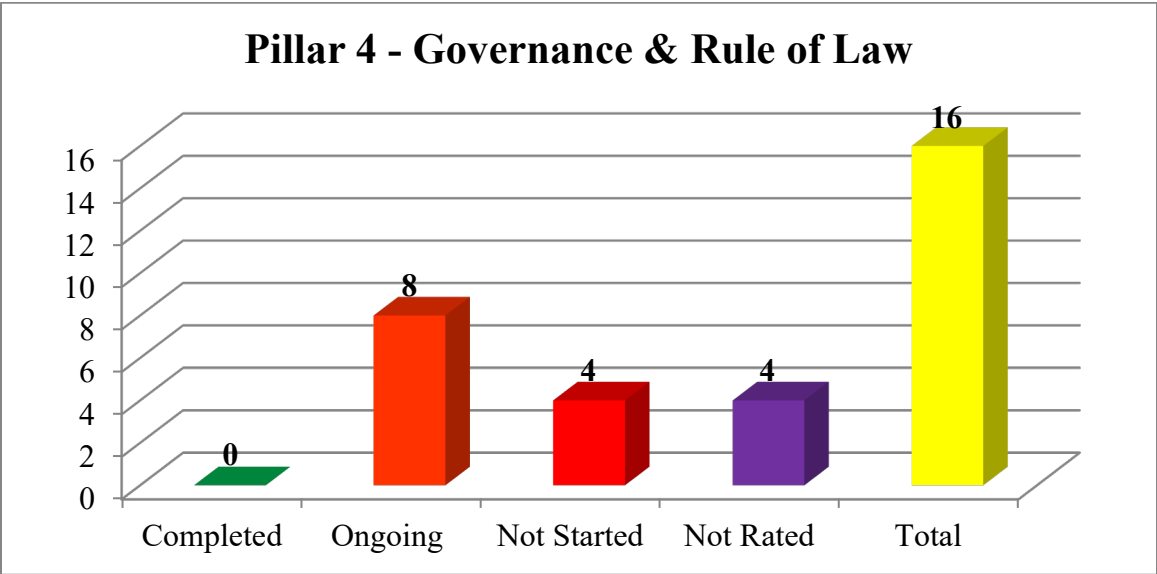

Figure 5. Rating of Promises under pillar 4-Governance and Rule of Law

Pillar 5 – Gender, Youth, Children, & Social Protection

With a diverse focus, this pillar, which contains nine, (9) promises, seeks to reduce gender disparities, empower youth, provide social protection for children, and offer major programs for youth and sports development. Of the 9 promises tracked and monitored, only 1 promise has been completed by the government, 4 are ongoing promises, 2 have not started, and 2 not rated.

Pillar 6 – Fight Against Corruption

A call for the 'Fight Against Corruption' was one of the major campaign promises of President Joseph Nyumah Boakai, Sr., during the 2023 elections. Under this pillar, the President promised to strengthen integrity institutions, declare his assets, investigate illegitimate contracts, and audit outgoing government officials. For this effort, a total of 4 promises were made, as all 4 promises are ongoing while none has been completed.

5.0 CONCLUSION

The assessment of the government's performance from January to August 2024 reveals mixed results in implementing the promises made by President and the Unity Party Government. Out of the 119 promises tracked, three have been fully completed, with 70 still ongoing. These figures highlight some progress but raise questions about the pace of reforms critical to the nation's development.

While the government's focus on infrastructure and governance issues is commendable, concerns remain about the slow pace of action on key reforms needed to drive sustainable growth. These reforms, especially in sectors like health, education, the fight against illicit drugs, and corruption, are vital to improving service delivery and maintaining oversight of public infrastructure and investments. Without these measures, the frameworks needed to support economic growth and create jobs remain fragile.

The government's six-year mandate under the 1986 Constitution of Liberia offers a crucial window for implementing these reforms. However, it is imperative that the administration accelerates the legislative and policy-driven processes required to turn these promises into action.

Another significant challenge to tracking government performance is the lack of accessible data and the unavailability of functional websites for various Ministries, Agencies, and Commissions (MACs). Additionally, many government institutions are reluctant to share information, further limiting the scope of the President Meter Report. This scarcity of information hinders transparency and impedes the public's ability to hold the government accountable.

To foster trust and ensure accountability, the government must strengthen its information-sharing channels. Regular updates on the progress of ongoing projects should be made available to the public through a variety of media platforms. Furthermore, each MAC must develop its own performance tracking system to monitor and report on the progress of promises made under the President's AAREST Agenda. Transparent communication and consistent reporting are key to building public confidence and promoting an open, accountable government.

6.0 ABOUT NAYMOTE

Naymote Partners for Democratic Development is a good governance and research institution with over 21 years of professional experience working to advance the principles of democracy, rule of law and participatory governance in and out of Liberia. The institution has trained some of the most prominent young politicians in and outside of Liberia.

The institution believes that a purposeful and effective civil society is needed to set the national policy agenda, stimulate sound and healthy grassroots' response to governance issues, and influence the uneven power dynamics that characterize the relationship between Liberia's citizens and government.

Since its establishment in 2001, the institution has initiated several programs to foster political accountability to make elected leaders more accessible, responsible, and accountable to the electorates; and to build the capacity of local leaders to be more effective in the delivery of essential government services.

7.0 PERFORMANCE ANALYSIS: GOVERNMENT PROMISES & CURRENT STATUS (8 MONTHS IN OFFICE)

PILLAR ONE: MACROECONOMIC STABILITY AND INFRASTRUCTURE DEVELOPMENT

The long-term initiatives on infrastructure and economic reforms show active engagement of the Boakai-led government, but the lack of completed projects among several not-started or not-rated interventions indicates a need for better and more responsible collaboration among institutions of concern to ensure effective delivery of promises made under Macroeconomic Stability and Infrastructure Development. These challenges include implementation delays and huge information gaps. To enhance impact, the administration's efforts should focus on completing ongoing projects/promises, beginning not-started/rated ones, and improving operational monitoring mechanisms to boost transparency and accountability.

PILLAR TWO: HEALTH, WASH, THE ENVIRONMENT, AND CLIMATE CHANGE

This second pillar focuses on improving healthcare, WASH, and environmental sustainability—the government's approach to these initiatives has been active—as efforts toward enhancing the health sector's leadership, cultivating a culture of mental healthcare delivery, strengthening the health information system, and promoting climate change mitigation. Among other key interventions include ongoing partnerships for medicine supplies, World Bank-funded sanitation projects, and EPA-led environmental regulations. There are some critical efforts, which were also placed in either of the two categories—not started and not rated due to insufficient information—like establishing regional diagnostic centers and the restoration of integrity in healthcare financing. With the desire to maximize impact, the Government of Liberia should consider accelerating project completion, initiating delayed efforts, and enhancing transparency and accountability through improved monitoring mechanisms.

PILLAR THREE: HUMAN CAPACITY DEVELOPMENT

The focus of this pillar is on improving the quality of education and skills training in Liberia, among other initiatives targeting early childhood, primary, secondary, and tertiary education, as well as expanding technical and vocational training. Other continuous efforts include the renovation of classrooms and training specialized practitioners for early childhood and postsecondary education. Up to date, there are important efforts that have either not started or not rated due to limited data progress, which draws attention to implementation and monitoring deficiencies. As such, the measures to address key delays, enhance government reports on deliverables, and ensure conformity with national education goals are critical for optimizing the impact on human capacity development.

PILLAR FOUR: GOVERNANCE & RULE OF LAW

Governance & Rule of Law as a major pillar of the Boakai-led government aims to improve Liberia's governance, heighten the rule of law, ensure accountability, and strengthen national security through various reforms—foreign relations, security, judicial integrity, and public financial management. While there is ongoing advancement in areas like foreign engagement, security improvement, and integrity institution reforms, many crucial initiatives remain either not started or not rated due to insufficient data or the lack of cooperation from requisite government institutions. To achieve the desired outcomes, the government, through its responsible institutions, should prioritize the need for better monitoring, initiating stalled projects, and improving transparency and accountability through enhanced reporting and evaluation mechanisms.

PILLAR FIVE: GENDER, YOUTH, CHILDREN, AND SOCIAL PROTECTION

The clarion call for empowering women, supporting the physically challenged, protecting children, and enhancing youth capacity is part of the government sectoral effort to provide equal opportunities for everyone to realize their dreams and aspirations, and cultivate the necessary skills to explore their maximum potential. While ongoing efforts are credited to the appointment of more women in government, implementation of the Liberia Women Empowerment Program, and providing assistance to the physically challenged. Child protection measures, such as the Support a Child Save the Future Project, are also underway. Several initiatives like promoting sports, enhancing youth governance participation, and constructing sports stadiums in every county have not started, which highlights the gaps in youth and social development. Yet—the need for improved monitoring toward targeted actions is needed to ensure these interventions effectively contribute to gender equality, youth empowerment, and social protection in Liberia.

PILLAR SIX: FIGHT AGAINST CORRUPTION

During the 2023 Presidential and Legislative Elections, the Fight against Corruption was one of the many promises made by President Joseph Nyuma Boakai, Sr., across the political landscape of Liberia. In response to these calls, President Joseph Nyumah Boakai, Sr. has prioritized strengthening integrity institutions, holding public officials accountable, and enhancing transparency in Liberia. While efforts include, the establishment of the Office of Assets Recovery and the appointment of officials to enhance oversight functions across ministries, agencies, and commissions/corporations (MACs). The President has instituted further measures on issues, such as asset declarations and investigations into illegitimate contracts and how they are being awarded—an ongoing effort to promote accountability. There are challenges in fully executing planned audits of outgoing government officials and ensuring comprehensive oversight of public sectors and public resources. To effectively combat corruption, emphasis must be placed on completing and executing audit reports, enforcing existing laws, and enhancing the capacity of integrity institutions to hold public officials accountable.
